Chambers Construction Hires New Superintendent

EUGENE, OR — Chambers Construction, a leading Pacific Northwest general contractor based in Eugene, Oregon, is pleased to announce the hiring of Robert Wyers as Superintendent.

Wyers has over 27 years of construction industry experience as a carpenter to various management positions and leads on jobs throughout our local area. His understanding of the complexities of commercial projects will provide a solid foundation for our team in the field.

“Robert has great experience in the construction industry and will add depth our team here at Chambers Construction. We are glad to have him on our team,” said Dave Bakke, CEO/President.

About Chambers Construction

Chambers Construction has been a leading Pacific Northwest general contractor since 1955, and is based in Eugene, Oregon. Throughout our 69-year history, we have partnered with public and private owners to develop a diverse portfolio of renovation, rehabilitation, and new construction projects that include multi-family residential, recreational, manufacturing, educational, healthcare, commercial, office, industrial, retirement living, mixed-use and institutional facilities. We are committed to an integrated approach when working with owners and design partners, implementing green building practices and materials, performing a large percentage of our work with local labor, and supporting the industry through our apprenticeship program.
